Dear Harry Palmer, Avra Honey-Smith and Stars Edge International

I am writing in reference to my email dated 5th January 2018.

Despite the seriousness of what is included in the email, and the claims made throughout our expose, there still seems to be no response from your part, including answers to the many questions which were sent to you. We have also reminded you of this opportunity numerous times throughout our use of social media.

There are now many ex-Avatar Masters, their family and loved ones, as well as those who you have been activity recruiting, in addition to ex-Scientists who were part of your Elmira Mission days - all waiting for a response!

Since sending you the original email there continues to be more and more stories and experiences coming in which just confirm even further what we seek answers to. It appears you go out of your way to keep your inner workings "secretive" and pass ALL negative experiences off from your organisation as just being the person's "creation" and/or "their fault". It appears that 'extreme exploitation' does not bother you, nor the wellbeing of many people who have entered your organisation.

In addition to our previous questions, we specifically would like answers to the following. These questions are based on the experiences of "many" ex-members:

- Please explain the pool of Avatar Masters who are being used to lend huge amounts of money to other students/masters, sometimes on the abusive and manipulative demands of Avra and her Trainers?
- There are many of these Masters with existing assets in your organisation being used to loan money - do you feel this activity is ethical? Are you aware that often these loans never get paid back? Does this not bother you? How is this solely their responsibility?
- Why are you expecting these Masters to take on this huge financial burden when you are a multi-million-dollar business? Why are you not personally lending the money if it is so important to you that these students must attend advanced courses or stay on the Path?
- How many Avatars, Masters and Wizards are created by them finding their own finances to undertake the courses ethically, rather than being unduly influenced and pressured to borrow? How many people genuinely go on to do your courses without being manipulated, coerced or guilted into it? What are the numbers?
- Please confirm your beliefs with regards to entities and the beliefs regarding conventional medicine in your higher levels? At what stage does your organisation flip to teaching that entities are the root cause of everything, including incurable diseases? Please explain
