Dear Shona, QMs, AIs and Team

Im addressing this to all of you, because I worked with you and I considered many of you to have been friends and good people.

It has been brought to my attention that a rumour is going around the Avatar Network that I am crazy and that I have a mental illness. Also, it seems some of you have been fishing for my mental state?

Is this true? Please confirm in writing?

I am surprised that any of you would stoop this low considering your teachings and intention to create a better more compassionate world?

I would like to know where this "diagnosis" actually comes from? Please provide evidence of this diagnosis? Please confirm exactly what information you have on file about me and how you are using it? Please confirm where you got this information from? Please confirm who has directly contributed to this "diagnosis"?

Most importantly, please confirm why such a diagnosis is even important to your organisation?

Character assassination is a dirty tactic. It is used by game players, politicians and abusive groups/organisations. Because these people cannot answer any questions directly about their practices and claims made against their organisation, they instead attack the person's character - aiming to "divert" attention.

In addition, it is used to silence those who dare to speak out against injustice or any concern they may have about the harmful practices of another.

It seems Harry and Avra cannot answer any questions that have been made directly to them like any other responsible leader(s) can, so due to the fact I was part of your team, I will now be directing all my future correspondence to the Pacific (Oceania) team until this is resolved.

On a personal note, I am absolutely horrified as to your practices! I am horrified as to your internal policies, techniques, exercises and abuses!

It's like uncovering a nightmare! It has been heart wrenching! Gutting! Sickening!

I believe you have all gotten so used to it all, that you have forgotten just how very very wrong and warped some of your behaviour actually is!

This is especially true for those of you who are Trainers, QMs and some AIs!
